DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/14/2010 has been entered.

Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objects are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

This application contains claim 28 drawn to an invention nonelected without traverse (in-part, as it is dependent on withdrawn claim 13) in the reply filed on 10/24/2009. A complete reply to the office action should include appropriate action of inserting the withdrawn subject matter of claim 13 into pending claim 28.

New Grounds of Rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6086851 ('851).

'851 discloses a method for moisturizing or calming normal or diseased skin or mucous membrane, the method comprising the step of topically administering a substance containing a phospholipid gel to the skin or mucous membrane (abstract; col 14, line 51 to col 15, line 12). The phospholipid gel consists of a first phospholipid (col 2, lines 29-43), a second phospholipid (col 2, lines 43-47), and an inducer, such as antibiotic agents (col 2, lines 49-56). Both the first and second phospholipid are preferably saturated phospholipids, and a list of possible saturated phospholipids is given (col 2, lines 29-43).

'851 fails to explicitly teach a combination wherein the first phospholipid is a neutral phospholipid and the second phospholipid is a negatively charged phospholipid.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate a first phospholipid that is a neutral phospholipid and second phospholipid that is a negatively charged phospholipid. The rationale for this is that the first phospholipid and the second phospholipid are preferably saturated phospholipids and a brief list of possible saturated phospholipids is given (col 2, lines 29-43). In this list, roughly half of the saturated phospholipids are neutral (about half are phosphatidylcholines, which are neutral phospholipids), and roughly one third of the saturated phospholipids are negatively charged (for example, phosphatidylglycerols, which are negatively charged phospholipids). Based on the brevity of the list and the large number of neutral and negatively charged phospholipids disclosed, '851 provides sufficient guidance to allow the ordinary artisan to arrive at a combination of first phospholipid that is neutral and second phospholipid that is a negatively charged.
